Buy Wasteless Heating $99

World's Greatest Invention!

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

Puts IDEAL HOT WATER HEATING comfort at low cost in cottages, flats, or stores, with or without cellars

The IDEAL-Arcola takes the place of a parlor stove. But a stove wastes much of its heat up the chimney, whereas the IDEAL-Arcola is water-jacketed, and conveys its heat by hot water circulation through pipe-connected AMERICAN Radiators stationed in the adjoining rooms. Every bit of the big volume of heat developed from each pound of fuel is therefore made useful in keeping ALL the rooms uniformly, healthfully warm. There is no coal-waste. The IDEAL-Arcola does not rust out or wear out—will outlast the building—is a genuine, permanent investment!

Shipped complete ready for immediate operation

The beauty of the IDEAL-Arcola method is that no cellar is needed. Everything is on one floor. The Arcola is placed in any room that has a chimney connection. No running to cellar. If there are two or more tenants in the building, each can have his own Arcola and make the temperature to suit his own needs—can make his own climate! If you do not wish at first to heat the entire building, buy a small size IDEAL-Arcola and later on buy extra sections for the IDEAL-Arcola and two or three more radiators to warm more rooms.

Cleanly heating—healthful heating—free from fire risks!

Unlike stoves, there are no coal-gas leaks into the living-rooms. The IDEAL-Arcola delivers the soft, radiant warmth of hot water—not the dry, burnt-out atmosphere of stove heating. There is no fire risk to building—no danger to children—fire lasts for hours! The Arcola burns hard or soft coal, coke, gas, or wood. Brings cost of heating down to the lowest notch—and gives IDEAL comfort.

KINGSTON N. Y. OCT. 25, 1919

If the "flying parson" as applied to Lieutenant Maynard, winner of the trans-continental flight is more than a mere nickname, he is a sky-pilot in a double sense.

The effort to change the peace treaty by direct amendment in the Senate has failed, but it still remains to be seen whether ratification without reservations is possible, a two-thirds majority being required.

Dukes and cars drove motor trucks in London as strike breakers. The British aristocracy may idle a good deal but can be depended on in a crisis, as the great war showed.

It took only 300 policemen to make 5,000 Russian paraders in New York turn and beat it at a break-neck speed. If Kichak could enlist a few thousand American cops, he could clean up the Bolsheviks in no time.

Paderewski says he hasn't played the piano for more than two years and has forgotten the art. Playing statesman as Premier of a resurrected Poland seems to have been found more interesting as well as more important.

Many women qualified to vote in New York have refrained from registering rather than bow to the requirement of telling their ages. They hold, according to the Sun, that swearing to the Constitutional age of 21 is enough. Even that is too much for some who still look eighteen.

Perhaps President Wilson was a little too frank in saying that the cause of the league is greater than the government. It certainly will overthrow the government if adopted, so he was quite within the truth in regarding it, from his viewpoint as greater than the government.

Dr. Cook comes once more into the limelight with the announcement that he has made a million in oil in the Southwest. But the imaginative Doc is not content to be a mere plutocrat and still claims that his make-believe North Pole was the genuine article.

The strike of longshoremen on Columbus Day threatening to tie up the Atlantic coast calls to mind the fact that, though the great Italian mariner was handicapped by the backward methods of the fifteenth century, he was at least secure from the wreck of his great plans by a union and a strike among his sailors.

Some of the people in Kansas City, according to the Independent of that city, actually "think that King Albert is going to wear an ermine cloak and a jeweled crown" when he steps off the train at that point. Yet even the movies have shown kings in ordinary citizen's clothes as well as in military garb.

According to an official report from the Department of Agriculture the world's supply of cattle, sheep and swine is substantially the same as it was before the war, and, as Europe is now too poor to buy much of our meat, there is no economic reason why all meats in this country should not revert to pre-war prices. No economic reason, but as many profiteers' reasons as there are profiteers.

BAD FOR OUR BOLSHEVISTS

At a time when the Russian Bolsheviks seemed to be at the height of their power some of their American brothers in spirit decided to make a public test of the boasted progress of the movement in this country. Communist candidates had their names put on the ballot in Philadelphia's primaries with a platform demanding a Soviet government. The census of 1910 gave Buffalo 113,491 persons of Italian birth, 11,389 persons of German birth, and 55,347 persons of the German and Anglo-American race. The foreign born of the city actually equaled in number the natives of native parentage, no less than 200,000 persons in a population of only 424,000 being a record for any city in the world.

400 of the 54,000 votes in the Buffalo primaries.
Bolshevists in America may persist in disbelieving the reports from Russia, both in regard to the atrocities committed and the recent disastrous military reverses suffered by their brothers in that country. They may continue to assert that a million of righteousness has come to Russia and that it will spread to other parts of the world. But they must feel somewhat discouraged, so far as America is concerned, when in such seemingly promising territory as Buffalo less than one percent of the ballot can be counted for their cause. Evidently there is little hope for the Bolsheviks in America even at a time when the country is torn with dissension, unprecedented unrest and vast industrial disturbance.

CLOSED OR OPEN SHOP IS VITAL

Says Judge Gary, and Final and Correct Verdict Will Come From Non-Union Majority.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Oct. 25.—Judge Elbert H. Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, Friday attributed the breaking up of President Wilson's industrial conference to a clash of principles. Judge Gary addressed the American Iron and Steel Institute at the Hotel Commodore.

"Every principle contended for by the unions at the industrial conference, led to domination of the shop and of the men by the union leaders," said Gary. "Every position taken by the other side centered on the open shop."

"This is the great question confronting the American public, and in fact, the world public. 'From 80 to 90 per cent or more of the labor of this country is non-union. It is for them and the employers generally—and the large class of men and women who are not strictly speaking, employees or wage earners—to determine whether or not it is best for all of humanity to have industry totally organized."

"Judged by experience we believe it is for the best interests of the employer and the general public to have a business conducted on the basis of what we term the open shop, thus permitting any man to engage in any line of employment, or any employer to secure services of any workmen on terms agreed upon between the two, whether the workman is or is not connected with a labor union."

"The verdict of the people at large will finally determine this question and that decision will be right."

Judge Gary declared that he believed there was yet work to be done by the public group of the conference (of which he is a member) that would be profitable.

He touched briefly on the matter of radicals and radicalism.

"There is no place in this country except in our jails for Bolsheviks, members of the I. W. W. and other like radicals," he declared.

WAGES OUTSTRIP THE LIVING COSTS

September Average in State Factories Nearly 100 Per Cent Higher Than in 1914—Food Prices 90 Per Cent Higher—Average Weekly Wage $24.83.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Albany, Oct. 25.—In September the increase in the earnings of New York state factory workers appears to have exceeded the amount required by the increase in cost of living.

Factory workers' earnings averaged 95 per cent higher in September than in June, 1914, and food prices were 90 per cent higher, according to the index number of the United States bureau of labor statistics. During the month from August to September, the earnings of factory workers rose 4 per cent, while food prices dropped 2 per cent.

The September average weekly earning again sets a new high mark, as it is $24.83, or 98 cents higher than the average earning for August. The New York city factory worker earnings averaged $26.17 in September, or $1.46 higher than in August.

These averages are computed by the bureau of statistics of the state industrial commission from the reports of 1,648 manufacturers of the state.

Employees in nearly all branches of manufacturing earned more in September than in August. The increase in earnings is due in some cases to overtime, for which, in many firms, an extra rate of pay was given. Local holidays in New York and Ulster in honor of men returning from military service cut down the number of hours and consequently the earnings of workers in some of the firms reporting, but the number of such firms was not sufficient to seriously affect the total for the state.

The increase in weekly earnings in the various industries from August to September runs as high as $7. In a considerable number of industries an increase of one to two dollars in the average weekly earning was reported.

In the jewelry and silverware division the average weekly earning was $5 higher in September than in August, due partly to higher wage rates and partly to overtime worked in the effort to increase production to meet the extraordinary demand in these industries.

Other metal industries showing a noticeable increase in the earnings of workers are the brass and copper goods, heating apparatus, machinery, shipbuilding and instrument and appliances divisions.

For goods workers earned an average of over $37 a week in September—an increase of $4 over the August average. Individual firms show average earnings as high as $55 a week.

This is explained by the fact that work in this industry is now at the height of the season and overtime running as high as 20 hours a week was reported by some firms. Weekly earnings of workers in miscellaneous leather and canvas goods, shoes and rubber goods show an increase of $1 or more.

In the jewelry industries, the employees of firms making men's clothing and furnishings received the chief increase in earnings. Several increases in wage rates were reported in men's clothing and most of the up-state shirt and collar factories report a 10 per cent increase in rates. The September average weekly earnings of all clothing workers was about 120 per cent greater in 1919 than in 1914 or 1915.

Weekly earnings of workers in food products increased materially during the month. The largest gains were in canning and miscellaneous groceries. The sugar refineries of the state report an increase in wage rates averaging 10 per cent. The earnings of candy workers also show an increase in September. One large producer reports the adoption of a minimum wage of $12 per week for women.

A number of wage rate increases in mill work and furniture manufacturing, and overtime work in some plants manufacturing miscellaneous wood products account for a gain of about 5 per cent in the average weekly earnings in the wood manufacturing group.

Weekly earnings in the chemicals, oils and paints group of industries increased 4 per cent from August to September. A wage rate increase of 10 per cent was reported in oil refineries of the state.

The average of printing workers' earnings advanced $1.70 from August to September. Employees in paper box and tube, and paper goods firms earned over a dollar a week more in September. The net effect is a 6 per cent increase in the earnings of workers in this group of industries.

Weekly earnings in each of the other general divisions of manufacturing—stone, clay and glass products, paper, textiles and water, light and power—increased 2 per cent or more from August to September.

TOMORROW IS FOR ROOSEVELT

Clergymen All Over State to Extol His Americanism—Catholic Whole-Hearted Support.

With reports from all counties in New York state denoting marked success the Roosevelt Memorial Association's membership campaign will reach its climax in New York state in the next two days. Tomorrow, Sunday, will be Roosevelt Sunday throughout the state and the following day, Monday, Roosevelt Day, will be the occasion in the state and nation of the greatest series of mass meetings and patriotic programs ever arranged in this country.

William J. Tully, state chairman for New York state of the association is receiving from a number of clergymen promises of warm cooperation for tomorrow. In many parts of the state, Go-to-Church Sunday is being observed then, and clergymen of all denominations will take advantage of the opportunity of unusually large congregations to drive home the lessons of Americanism contained in the career of Theodore Roosevelt.

In Buffalo all the Catholic Clergy will announce the purpose of the Memorial campaign at their services. Others at the door will pass out membership application blanks and on Monday the leaders in all parochial schools will give them to the pupils with instructions to take them home and have them signed. Protestant clergymen in Buffalo and in the other parts of New York will aid with equal effectiveness. William Turner, Bishop of Buffalo, has issued the following statement for the diocese: "I pledge the whole-hearted support of the Roman Catholic Church in the Diocese of Buffalo to the Roosevelt Memorial Association. I have always been a warm admirer of Theodore Roosevelt. He was friendly to the church as he was to all others because he was fair and square in his dealings with it. He stood out plainly always as the champion of square dealing. He was wonderful as a man; as head of a representative American family; as a soldier and statesman, he won the admiration and respect of all who came within sound of his voice or within reach of his writings."

Mayors of many cities including Rochester and Syracuse have issued proclamations urging people in their cities to observe Roosevelt Day as a patriotic occasion. State wide attention has been called to Monday through Governor Smith's Roosevelt Day Proclamation.

Reports from all over the country and from foreign countries to William Boyce Thompson, President of the Roosevelt Memorial Association show the wide spread interest and support being accorded the movement everywhere. Chairmen of the Association's branches in Panama, Honolulu, and Rome report their organizations making progress with enthusiastic support from members of the American colonies. In Hawaii all the ministers will use the life of Roosevelt tomorrow as the subject of their Sunday sermons.

SLAVERY FROM FIAT HEALTH INSURANCE

Proposed Legislation Favored By Governor Is German Propaganda
And Banned German Labor Says
Medical League.

Following is a statement issued by the county organizations opposing compulsory health insurance:

The League of the Medical and Allied professions composed of the doctors, dentists, druggists, nurses and optometrists in your county and other counties organized to the extent of forty-five in New York state this time, feels that you, whether you be capital or labor, Republican or Democrat, female or male voter, are faced with the most pernicious legislation in the form of compulsory health insurance that has ever come before the American people; Legislation that would make slaves of the American working men and strangle the professions; the same as has been done in Germany and other countries that have tried it. This legislation was first originated by Bismarck in Germany in 1880 as an economic measure to stop strikes, keep Socialists quiet and tie labor to the job. By giving them sick benefits, old age pensions, maternity benefits, unemployment benefits whereby they were taken care of by the state from the cradle to the grave. A certain amount was deducted from wages and the amount left was not sufficient for a man to move from one job to another if he so desired. If he left his job his compulsory health insurance and pensions stopped. In Bismarck's autobiography it states Bismarck as saying that "compulsory health insurance was given to the German workingman as a sop but in reality it had been a golden collar around their necks." The result was that the big industrial firms controlled 95 per cent of the output of the German Empire in 1914. Where are the individual producers? All but two percent swallowed up in the six big industrial firms, and these six big industrial firms ran the German Empire. These are the men who gained by strangling German labor.

The twenty-five year period before the war showed that the increased cost of living in Germany was 15 per cent, the increased wage was only 30 per cent—leaving the German working man 45 per cent worse off economically than in 1880 when this law started. During the same period of twenty-five years before the war, the increased cost of living in the United States was 75 per cent, but the increase in wages was 110 per cent. The American working man was 35 per cent ahead of his living schedule while the German working man was 45 per cent behind his living schedule. The American was a free agent and could advance from one job to another, getting paid better and broadening out each year, while the laborers of Germany were getting into the situation that in 1914 there were 94,000 families living in Berlin who had only two rooms for the average family of five, and where thousands of these families had to take in boarders to even pay the rent on these two rooms. Can you picture the poverty and distress that this much-vaunted cure-all compulsory health insurance accomplished? In the twenty-five year period before the war, statistics prove that the days sickness per year in 1880 before this law was established, were 6.1 days; that in 1913 they were 12.2 per cent; just twice as much sickness as before compulsory health insurance was established in Germany.

In the United States without this law, in 1913 our total number of days sickness was only 4.5 per cent. The infant mortality was over 225 per thousand for the first year of life, against 110 per thousand in the United States. Illegitimate births more than doubled in this period, partly due to overcrowding but mainly because of the laxity of morals. How can you have a high state of morality where you have five people living regularly in two rooms and having two or three boarders? This law provided for maternity benefits; care and after birth, an easy way of shirking maternal responsibility by an extensive system of orphan asylums. Germany and Austria-Hungary led the world in immorality. The doctors in Germany have practically been starved out—contract practice covered this system and the medical journals before the war many times advertised for a doctor to take care of twenty-five hundred persons for $500 marks per year. Think of a doctor taking care of 2,500 people for $160 per year, an average of $3 per week. Do you think that the German working man received good medical attendance? He did not. The medical men simply could not exist. Large numbers went into other work. A man must have money or its equivalent to progress. He cannot exist himself without a family on $160 per year, let alone advancing in his profession, buying books, etc. Thus, you can see that the statement by the proponents of this legislation that compulsory health insurance makes for the betterment of the laborer, reduces sickness, saves babies and helps morality, besides being a fine thing for the doctor, is a bare-faced lie. That the United States without compulsory health insurance is more than twice as well off as Germany with her vaunted 40 years of debauchery of the economies of her working men, under the guise of welfare and compulsory health insurance.

Now let us get down to the real truth of this measure from the standpoint of economy. Because of compulsory health insurance tying the German workingman to the job few strikes occurred; less time was lost. However, he could not advance his wages to meet his increased cost of living. In fact he was 45 per cent behind his scale of living therefore, by paying less wages and having his labor tied, Germany could undersell the world. The Junkers of Germany put the profits in their pockets, and the workmen got very little. The result was that these men, Junkers, became enormously wealthy and in 1914 six big industrial controlled 95 per cent of the output of the German Empire; the small dealers, grocers, butchers, shipbuilders, factories were not individuals any more but were swallowed up in these six industrial. These six industrial groups ruled Germany and made the great war we have just finished the horrible economic war the terrible slaughter it was. Do you suppose these six big industrial were thinking of what a fine thing the saving of babies, or the care of the sick, were when the Lusitania was sunk and our hospitals shelled? But the intriguing economic mind of these same six big industrial, the Junker class, before and during the war and now, who are the real rulers of Germany were not satisfied with this underselling all over the world, they realized that compulsory health insurance cost them some large amount in overhead charge per year that the other countries in the world were not paying because they did not have compulsory health insurance, therefore, they started out in 1900 to try and get every other country to take up compulsory health insurance so that the overhead to each country would be as great or more, and as the German working man was properly tied and did not dare ask for increase of wages, even up to his normal living increase, the Junkers would make even more money; because, of course, the added cost of compulsory health insurance in other countries would be tacked on to the product, and if Germany goods were sold in those countries they would bring just so much more. These six big industrial "Junkers" so called, sent Herman Bauer a supposed Socialist, but in reality a real Junker to Paris, in 1900, to establish the International Society for Labor Legislation to send propaganda for compulsory health insurance to every country to talk it up so nicely from a "save the baby and welfare standpoint" that everyone would jump for this kind of legislation. This same Herman Bauer was secretary of this society for sixteen years at Bonn, and is now in the German cabinet as secretary of labor, a real Junker of the ruling house of six big industrial and not a representative of the German workingman. This International Society for Labor Legislation sent out propaganda, industrial spies, and exchange professors to our colleges and universities and talked for Germany twenty-four hours a day—established a Society for Labor Legislation in this country, composed of whom? 35,000 college professors, Socialists, pro-Germans, but not a single labor man in the society. We believe that some of this group don't know they are playing Germany's game, but are asking it as supposed welfare. We also believe that a number do know the facts and are working night and day for this legislation for the same debauchery of the American workingman as existed in Germany. They have captured some of our women with the seeming cure all of welfare legislation but as the women are finding out the real nature of the legislation they are turning absolutely against it.

This legislation is German propaganda and it has been so insidious that the Democratic party led by Governor Smith last winter tried to force this legislation through the New York state legislature. A number of women were also for it, being led by Miss Mary Drier, a Socialist pro-German—her parents being born in Germany and never naturalized, although she was born in Brooklyn. And John B. Andrews, Ph.D., the secretary of the Society for American Labor Legislation, has been the prime propagandist appearing before women's organizations. The Republican party stood out nobly in this fight in New York state legislature, and refused to allow it to be forced upon the American workingman, because they knew that it was directly a German economic propaganda and not a supposed welfare measure. Besides it is estimated that the cost would be $40 million dollars to administer in New York state for one year; increasing each year to nearer $200,000,000 per year. This fund would be divided according to the bill proposed, in New York state. Forty per cent to be paid by the employer, 40 per cent by the employee and 20 per cent by the state. The employee would pay his forty per cent, the forty per cent collected from the employer would be passed on to the product and the twenty per cent for administration and the state, as an employer of labor would be collected by direct tax. Thus, the employee would come pretty near to paying the whole bill. Since the Democratic party has made this a party issue, whether they know or do not know, the real facts of this legislation, we cannot take any chances with the Democratic legislators. The Republican party has stood solidly against this legislation and as we have the opportunity this year of only voting for an assemblyman, we request that irrespective of your party affiliations, you vote for the Republican candidate, Sinton B. Van Wagenen, who has stated that he is opposed to all compulsory health insurance legislation.

Overrules Election Law.
Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser of Poughkeepsie practically overruled the state election law when he handed down a decision that the name of Daniel J. Gleason, candidate for surrogate, shall appear in three columns on the voting machines. Judge Gleason was nominated by the Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists. The state election law provides that the name of a candidate shall appear in but one column on the ballot, in this case the Democratic column, as that party polled the largest vote last year.

To Secure Vocational Training Through Federal Board Which Wants To Reach Every Handicapped Man.

Mayor Canfield has received information from the Federal Board for Vocational Education that soldiers, sailors and marines who desire to make application for re-education may apply for same through him.

The board desires to reach every soldier, sailor or marine, who suffered a permanent handicap because of his service and such are entitled to training, provided such disability was incurred in the military or naval service of the United States, or was incurred or aggravated by such service. Any man in the city who thinks he is entitled to this training can apply through Mayor Canfield who will take it up with the Federal Board.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education must confine its activities within the limits of the law as amended by Congress on July 11th last. The duties and limitations of the board in its dealings with the disabled soldiers may be summed up in the following manner:

The Federal Board can:

1. Provide training for men whose disabilities due to service prohibited their return to their old jobs.
2. Provide maintenance for such men while in training.
3. Provide allowance for families of such men while in training.

Albert Visits Bowery.

Long This Is Deathless.

The "timeless heart of home," John Ward Payne, was born in New York June 9, 1822, and his song is one of those which gained immediate popularity, but which all who handled except the author. It came to be known in this manner: While Charles Noble was manager of the Covent Garden theater, London, in 1823, he had a quantity of Payne's writings, and which was a play entitled "The Maid of Milan." Payne was almost starving in a garret in London, when he altered this play into an opera and introduced into it the words of "Home, Sweet Home." So successful was the immediate success that over 100,000 copies were sold during the first year. The great hit constantly sang it in this country when on tour 60 years ago, and in fact it appeared for years on programs throughout Europe and the United States.

Glimpse of the Past.

An odd bit of the past turns up in a list of old publications soon to be sold at auction, namely, to give it its full imposing title, "A Sermon Preached at White-Chapel, in the Presence of Mary Honourable and Workful, the Adventurers and Planters for Virginia," and "Published for the Benefit and Use of the Colony Planted, and to be Planted There, and for the Advancement of Their Christian Purposes." Rev. William Symonds preached that sermon, notes of which were published in the "Christianity and the Spirit World." There will be special and appropriate music. The following Sunday night the topic will be Whitman's "Song-Drum." The Home and the Family. Sunday school with Adult Bible class, at 11:45. This is a one hour session. Will Go Back to Work in France.

If Charles W. Bradley, Jr., formerly a teacher of manual arts in Worcester academy, Worcester, Mass., hadn't been an obliging sort of gentleman, he wouldn't be carrying a shell splinter today under his right cheekbone, so cunningly lodged there that physicians hesitate to operate for fear of his face becoming paralyzed.

While a worker with the Feger du Soldat in France, Bradley encountered August 7 to replace another worker on the front line at Liery. The other well-known man was away on leave so Bradley, with his knapsack filled with Y. M. C. A. supplies went up near the front line. At that time a jagged shell caused by a shell splinter was bearing down on his forehead. He had been working only a short period at Liery when a Hun shell burst and he was given another moment of service. This time the splinter of a flying shell lodged in his cheek.

Bradley learned to love the French and will return to France to work among them in the demobilized zone as a member of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A. He said that he feels he will be able to not permanently wounded men in learning new occupations.

Tea and cake replaces "boogie in campaign."

The "tea fight" made its entrance into New York politics recently when hundreds of voting mothers assembled in a former saloon in the lower West Side of the city and, with their feet placed on the brass rail, planned the election of Miss Bertha Rembrandt as Justice of the Municipal Court. A brass banner carried the war, while arranged neatly on candy and other dainties, registered the general theme, which was won during an important election. Behind the "bar" in the above photograph is shown Mrs. J. J. Tompkins, Mrs. J. L. La Guardia, who is serving tea to the candidates. Miss Rembrandt.
